

Staff Allocation Policy

Taylor is committed to assigning staff that are appropriately qualified and experienced in the type and scale of works relevant for each project.

Our procedures for staff allocation are based on:

- Ensuring that suitably qualified and experienced personnel are identified for the project.
- Ensuring that appropriate management, site staff and labour resources are allocated for the type and scale of project works.
- Allocation of staff which will achieve Taylor quality, safety, environmental and industrial relations policy requirements and procedure objectives.
- Ensuring that staff allocated on the project achieves satisfaction for both the client and Taylor.
- Ensuring that the appropriate staff allocated to the project achieves the company's aim to provide defect free completion, the construction program is achieved and costs are contained within budget in accordance with the client's requirements.

This policy will be reviewed in December 2023.
